Farm and Home Bureaus Cooperate For Best Club Season-Much Enthusiasm Shown.

With the cooperation of the county superintendent of schools, teachers in the rural schools, member of the Mercer County Farm and Home bureau, and the members of the purebred livestock organizations of the county, it is thought that this will be a banner year in calf, pig, chicken and domestic clubs

P. S. Richey, county farm advisor has sent literature to the instructors in the rural schools, and for the pupils of the schools, and it is thought that the boys and girls of Mercer county will respond with vigor. Already the older members of Mercer county organizations have shown their interest in the children and animals, by pledging money for prizes at the fair, and their ald in getting the children to join. Requirements for membership in the clubs are not difficult forward government seeds for free of all railroads to private control and it is thought that a large number of pupils in the schools will fill out the blanks and have them sent to the proper place. As a special inducement to secure the cooperation of the teachers, County Superintendent of Schools G. E. Platt has promised four credits for each member which they enroll.
